

Accent on comfort...

 ACCENT AIR

Paloma is Spanish for Dove, the symbol of peace, comfort and harmony.

An Introduction

Accent Air is in the business of heating and cooling all types of buildings – whether its your home or your work place.

When the weather turns to extremes and you need to be comfortable, where do the professionals turn? Accent Air.

Accent Air is an Australian company with sales and service facilities located nationally across Australia. Accent Air's manufacturing facility is located in Liverpool NSW and is a part of a major global organisation. Commencing business in 1993, Accent is a specialist in designing and building customised air-conditioning systems and heat pumps to suit the unique traits of the Australian climate.

Accent Air established a reputation using heat pump technology to heat small pools, spas and through to Olympic and commercial swimming pools.

Accent Air found the transition to commercial air-conditioning a logical and simple progression. Rheem Australia found this link to be in parallel to their own business and acquired Accent Air in 2007. Rheem Australia is well known for its “Install a Rheem” advertising slogan and jingle.

Paloma Industries is a world leader in instantaneous hot water systems and is the parent company of Rheem Australia and Rheem USA with manufacturing and sales facilities in over seventy countries.

One of the largest air-conditioning businesses, Rheem USA is a $Billion company manufacturing domestic, industrial and commercial air-conditioning systems for the US market. Accent Air is uniquely positioned to share global R&D resources and technologies through our affiliation with Rheem USA.

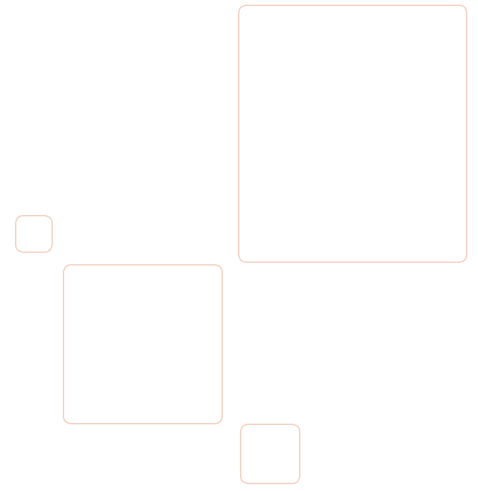

Paloma brings its world-wide philosophy of “Customer First” to the Group. The ultimate beneficiary is you – the customer.

Accent Air is dedicated to excellence, providing technologically advanced products in harmony with Paloma’s “customer first” founding principles.

This is what we do...

We design and build domestic (7kw – 27kw) and commercial (7kw – 110kw) packaged and ducted air-conditioning systems for all residential housing, offices, factories, industrial facilities, shopping centres, sporting and entertainment arenas through to challenging environments on and off-shore and in military applications.

We also provide heating and cooling solutions for water using high efficiency heat pump technology ranging from 11kw to 300kw.

In short, Accent Air has the technical expertise and capability of providing a sound totally customised solution.

Our products vary to suit each client – be it standard off-the-shelf unit or a fully customised solution for any unique application.
